

European Energy Journal

11

Volume 4 | Issue 2 | April 2014

Energy policy in the 2014 European election campaign | 14

A synopsis of the energy relevant parts of the political parties' programs and manifestos

Exploring a regional approach to EU energy policies | 18

An update by J. de Jong and C. Egenhofer on their research project on the "Schengenisation" of energy policy

Norwegian oil and gas: the outlook for production and exports | 28

Norway should keep its historical role as alternative gas supplier, but not try to substitute Russia, says Ø. Noreng

Using WTO rules to enforce energy transit and influence the transit fee | 34

A. Willems and Q. Li plead for a constructive interpretation of international rules to include energy transit

Energy infrastructure investments in Europe: The way forward | 43

S. Tagliapietra reports on why and how the EU acts as a catalyst in order to attract institutional investors

European Commission opts for non-legislative initiative on shale gas regulation | 49

F. Distefano describes the minimum principles recommended by the Commission for fracturing

Domestic production; future prospects of nuclear energy | 53

P. Storey predicts a major increase in the use of nuclear power overseas and a shift of balance inside Europe

Would power exchanges be exempt from competition regulation? | 62

Power exchanges are subject to the same competition rules as all other business, A. Kirkegaard warns

Law making	State of play and perspectives of the negotiations in the European institutions on pending and forthcoming legislative proposals	3
Case law	ECJ clarifies the notion of state aid in the context of a purchase obligation for electricity produced from renewables	8
Book reviews	M. Hafner, S. Tagliapietra , Gas markets globalization slowed down by US shale revolution; J. Urry , Societies beyond oil	11
Country reports	North Africa : Renewables; Ireland : Surfing on Blue Energy; Austria : Taxation of own renewables production; smart meters; trading platforms	66
On the scene	European elections	78